No words necessary

The beauty of this gun speaks for itself. We only want to make you aware of the little button between the water tables of the action. This holds open the top lever. When the barrel is closed, the bolting system snaps in place.

The owner of this fine gun would very much like to find gun No.1 and would appreciate to hear from you if you have encountered it anywhere.

We would very much like to find a Reeb catalog, borrow it for scanning and reproduce it. In return we offer ten free copies of the reprints when they come out and you would have done a good deed for the cause.

Johann Jakob Reeb (1843-1924) started his business in 1870 at Josephstrasse 49 in Bonn, taking over the business of Ewald Becher. In 1872 he was located at Dreieck 6 in Bonn and in 1877 added an additional workshop and major retail business with guns and accessories in 1877. In 1883 he moved to Münsterplatz 17 and is listed as Hofbüchsenmacher since 1887 and as a gun manufacturer. He outfits two expeditions for the Africa explorer Schilling. He retires from the business in 1909.

Philipp Reeb, Hofbüchsenmacher in Bonn. His sons, Philipp and Hans continued the business. Hans became a master gunmaker in 1911 and carried on the business under the name J.J. Reeb, Jr. at Poststrasse Q012.
